

Is everyone happy now?

Debi Whiteside

to:

lray

05/16/2013 07:59 PM

Hide Details

From: Debi Whiteside <debiwhiteside000@aol.com>

To: lray@lmsnet.com,

History: This message has been forwarded.

1 Attachment

dpfferal.jpg

I guarantee not you or any other 'board' member ever walked by my unit and smelled a bad odor. You listen to peoples hear-say and accuse me of crap. NOW leave me alone.

There is no hoarding here.

There are no odors .

I am not doing any thing illegal.

Stop listening to all these peoples bogus complaints.

I am done with this. All of you should be ashamed of yourself .

Many Western cultures have notions similar to karma, as demonstrated in the phrase what goes around comes around.<sup>[46]</sup> Christian expressions similar to karma include reap what one sows (Galatians 6:7), violence begets violence and live by the sword, die by the sword.<sup>[47]</sup> In Hinduism, God plays a role and is seen as a dispenser of its version of karma. The non-interventionist view is that of Jainism and Buddhism, the latter originally a non-theist religion. Generally, Western popular culture portrays karma as more of a supranatural mystical force than a perspective on causality. This is more similar to Hinduism's concept of karma than Buddhism's.<sup>[citation needed]</sup>